Making the most of your life - King's College London

All the points it makes, about things you can do to improve your life, have evidence to back them up. Its also a really good length â€” it was easy to read. I finished it in my lunch hour, and Iâ€™m glad it was concise and to the point. I definitely recommend this book who is struggling to find motivation. For only 7 dollars it gives a really easy to follow guide, broken down on how to make ...

The Successful Person's Guide to Time Management

Although there are many humans in this world, each one of us has only one life. One person may own many cars and houses, but even the richest person in the world cannot possess more than one life; and, when that is drawing to an end, he or she cannot buy, borrow or manufacture another. When we lose this life, it will be very difficult to find another similarly qualified human life in the ...
